Mediation
Service

Mediation resolves disagreements quickly, whilst preserving working relations. A neutral mediator meets you separately to discuss the issues.

A joint meeting follows, where the mediator sets ground rules and helps you find a solution that everyone agrees to. They do not impose solutions. The process is voluntary and confidential, and can be used at any stage.

Quick resolution

3 out of 4 disputes settled

Voluntary

Pause the process
at any time

Greater control

You agree the outcome

Confidential

You control who knows the details

Reduced costs

Compared to formal proceedings

A peacemaking service that empowers without imposing, that listens without fixing, and collaborates without judging.

Personal. Professional.
Compassionate.
